Workshop For The Building Department

by LARRY L. O'KELLEY
Freelance Writer

At the June 10th township board meeting the board agreed to have a workshop to discuss the building department. This meeting has tentatively been scheduled for the July 8, 1998 board meeting and likely would be held prior to the regular meeting.

The board agreed to this meeting following comments from Trustee McKinney that he was still working on the plan to limit the construction of new homes. He also added that he would like to have a town meeting on the building department and open the discussion up to public comment.

To this suggestion Trustee Glaab indicated that he did not want to become a forum for people to come forward to criticize the building department. He wanted a balanced presentation of the positive and negative aspects of the department.

Treasurer Adkins added that he would like to see the township office start passing out response cards to residents. Any resident that made a request of a department or employee would be asked to complete the form and express their opinion on the service. It was hoped by Treasurer Adkins, that this would help the board in determining if the departments were meeting the needs of the community.

So it appears, for the moment, that the board wants to limit the discussion of the building department to the workshop format either before or during the July 7th board meeting. As always, the meeting will be held at the Krzyske Center and is open to the public.

Video At 34th District Court

Presently, weekend arraignments are held at a location in Westland on Henry Ruff Road. Locally this means that if one of our police departments arrests an individual on the weekend (most felonies and domestic violence cases), those individuals must be taken to Westland for a hearing.

Beginning next month those hearings will be permanently moved to the 34th District Court. The Court has entered into a contract with the 3rd Circuit Court to take over the weekend and holiday arraignments. The Court will host these arraignments county wide (excluding the City of Detroit). Technology will play a large role in this new process. Fax machines will be used in order for the Prosecutor's Office to get the paperwork from their office to the Court. Additionally, the 34th District Court has a video system that will enable defendants to remain at the police department and have their hearings live by video.

Within the next 18 months all of the police departments county wide will be equipped with the video system. This will be the most extensive video capability for the court system nationwide. The cost savings to the police departments and to the taxpayers will be substantial. Hopefully, this process will be one of many in the forms of advanced technology that will help our court system to better serve you.

Softball's Best

Devon Fletcher

A three-year star shortstop, Fletcher moved to the mound this season and posted some remarkable performances including a three-hitter against Monroe Jefferson.

With a 400 average, she was also the team's leading hitter and was named to the all Huron League first team. Devon, is a junior at Huron High School

Sho Nuff

by LARRY O'KELLEY

I'm sure that if I had told Dad I was going to write something about him for Father's Day, he would have told me, "I'd just as soon you didn't."

You see, it suits him just fine to go through life with as little fanfare as possible. He is comfortable with his life and he certainly doesn't need his oldest to tell all 15,000 of us, "Hey, this is my father."

But, since I have not mentioned him in my column and since I'm sure all of you are thinking of your fathers on this special day, I would like to introduce you to my dad.

First, you need to know that I wasn't around when he was a kid or a young man. I can only go by what my dad has told me, my mom has told me and what the relatives have told me. And, as always, time has a way of dimming things and truth has its own point of view. With that in mind, this is briefly what I know.

Dad grew up in Arkansas and Missouri. He lived in the country and recalls the Depression and the hardships it brought. He recalls that since he lived in the country it wasn't as bad as it was in the city.

He recalls going to school with his other brothers and sisters and eating lunch out of a bucket made by his mother. He recalls riding horses and mules in order to get around. He recalls hunting, fishing and ball playing.

He tells a story about getting into the local show free (he sneaked in) or climbing a nearby tree because the show did not have a roof on it.

He tells that he and school had a mutual disrespect for each other. He recalls waiting in a grade for a girl to catch up to him. She did catch and then later passed him for a high grade.

He recalls serving in the Navy during World War II. He doesn't talk too much about those days in the Pacific but occasionally he will talk about meeting some old friends or spin a funny tale. He rarely talks about the bad times.

Dad was hurt in the war and still limps when he overdoes it.

He returned from the service and married his childhood girlfriend. They stayed a few years in Missouri where I was born but eventually moved up north with many others to find a better way of life.

My earliest recollections were of red brick roads, ethnic neighborhoods, a large yard, a puppy in a lunch box and trips to Patton Park. I also remember the variety of cars we had in the yard.

You see, Dad always liked to

"tinker" with cars. Mom recalls that she left him one time when he came home with the worst pile of junk she had ever seen. She later came back but Dad never gave up "swapping cars." He has slowed down a bit but he still feels that whatever car he has, "It's the best car I've ever had" or "It's the best car ever made."

I had also noticed that he will take the car to the shop rather than spend all day putting on brakes or putting an exhaust system on. I guess getting dirty, busting a few knuckles and getting burnt with the torch isn't worth the $15 you save on the labor.

I recall that in the mid-50's the pressures of the big city found my mother, brother and I returning to Missouri. I remained there until I returned in 1965.

Dad tried to see us as much as he could, but 700 miles was a large distance and he had his own life to live and a second family to care for. I do know that we missed him and the times we did spend with him didn't seem enough.

I recall the gifts that he brought with him or sent to us. I recall the pair of roller skates he bought for us. We lived on a dirt road and did not have sidewalks. He sent us our first black and white television and I recall watching the test pattern with the other kids.

I recall the other gifts like the BB gun and the bike but mostly I remember the pure joy of being with him.

I recall that when I graduated from high school there was a real possibility I would not be able to go to college in Missouri. I returned to Michigan to live and went to Eastern. Dad helped when things got tough. Mom helped and I was able to graduate.

I recall that when I first moved back to Michigan I tried my best to enjoy hunting. Dad has always enjoyed hunting and I would go up north with him to deer hunt. Dad would usually get his deer and I continued to pray that Bambi would not cross my path. I actually went because I enjoyed being with him and I enjoyed his cooking "breakfast at anytime."

When I got married, I stopped hunting which was a great relief to me but Dad did not miss a beat. He still hunts and talks about hunting moose in the upper part of Canada. I still look at him like he is crazy when he starts to talk about freezing in a tent miles from civilization and in the deep "Canadian Wilds."

Dad has twice the energy I have and I admit it without reservation. He makes me tired just looking at him. Dad used that energy driving a truck most of his working life. He never seemed, to me, to be the truck driving type but that just shows you what I know. A few years ago he retired and worked part-time for our schools. He gave that up so I guess he is retired.

However, he keeps busy doing a little farming and raising a few animals. He and Darlene are quietly content and live in a red farm house spending about 88-cents a month to heat their home and another 50-cents for lights. His wood pile would make most people sick and on 89-cents a month he is able to heat his house to a flat 95 degrees.

He complains his oldest child doesn't come over and visit enough. He always has a verse of bible to prove why his child does not see him more. I live just a few miles from him so I guess I should see him more. But I have my own family and his legs "ain't broke."

Besides, why pay a visit and watch him plow the field, plant the corn, and cut the wood. I can get tired thinking about my own work much less watching him.

Actually Dad and I understand a lot about each other and as I grow older that understanding becomes enough. Dad knows he is loved.

In Loving Memory

Ida Swantek (nee Trelenberg) died Sunday, June 7, in University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor, after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage Friday morning, June 5, while picking strawberries near her home on Hannan Road in New Boston. She was 78.

Mrs. Swantek was well known in the New Boston and Romulus area, where she spent most of her life. She began her working career at Romulus State Bank (later to become Manufacturer's National Bank and then Comerica Bank) in 1940 as a teller and secretary to the President. She retired from the bank in 1981. During her time there she experienced two holdups at her teller window. In one a man placed a bag on the counter, along with a note which demanded money and indicated he had a gun. Her response was to scold him and say that she couldn't give him the money because it wasn't hers. He was so stunned that he left. Ida's colleagues at the bank remember her as a dedicated and meticulous employee and a warm and upbeat person.

Born January 25, 1920 in Detroit, Mrs. Swantek was the oldest child of German immigrants Emil and Emma Trelenberg, who came here from what now is Ukraine. The family moved to a farm in Romulus when Ida was young, and she attended various schools in Huron Township, Flat Rock and Romulus, graduating from Romulus High School in 1938. At the time of her death she was serving as a member of the committee planning a reunion of Romulus High School classes of 1916 through 1949, to be held October 3, 1998 in Romulus.

Ida moved to New Boston after her marriage in 1940, living with her husband's parents above the family store at the southeast corner of Huron River Drive and Waltz Road (now Gibbs Sweet Station). They built a home on Hannan Road in 1943, where they lived until moving into a second home on the same property in 1957, where she lived until her death.

Ida was a faithful and active member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in New Boston for over 50 years, serving on various boards and committees, most recently as Director of the Board of Church Properties and as the congregation's Secretary. She spent countless hours cleaning and maintaining buildings and grounds, planting flowers, serving as cashier at Fish Dinners, gathering attendance sheets and helping count Sunday offerings.

Mrs. Swantek traveled widely around the United States, as well as to Europe and Israel, including visits to relatives in Germany. She occasionally joined her late husband Franklin, who died in 1986, for trips around Michigan in his private single-engine plane, some of which were hair-raising experiences. She also enjoyed quilting and sewing, tending her flower garden, maintained an active interest in her family's history, spent summers at the family cottage on the east shore of Houghton Lake, was a stickler for good penmanship, and never forgot an anniversary or birthday of friends and family members. She also enjoyed baking, and compiled and self-published a book of her favorite apple recipes entitled "To Apples With Love." Ida once won a blue ribbon at Applefest for an apple pie.

She is remembered by family, friends and neighbors as a warm, generous and loving person, energetic, optimistic and hard-working. She took any vow or commitment seriously, and was tenacious in her dedication to her marriage, her family, her job, her church, and her community.

Mrs. Swantek is preceded in death by her husband of 45 years, Franklin L., formerly of Fort Motor Company, Burroughs Corp. (Unisys) and owner of an air freight and service company. She is survived by her sons Donald and Ronald, by two sisters Esther and Helena, and two brothers Kenneth and Walter, as well as by four nieces, five nephews, five great nieces and eleven great nephews.

Services were held Thursday, June 11, at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church in New Boston. Burial was at Michigan Memorial Park in Flat Rock. Memorial donations may be made to St. Paul's Lutheran Church or to a charity of the donor's choice.

Kohlstrand Continues To Build Support In Judicial Race

34th District Court Judicial candidate Norman C. Kohlstrand has received yet another enthusiastic endorsement from the labor movement. This time it is the Greater Detroit Building and Construction Trades Council, American Federation of Labor, who believes that Kohlstrand is destined to become the next judge in the 34th District Court.

This organization is an umbrella group representing 15 different craft unions.

Some of the different unions involved include the Boiler Makers, Electrical Workers, Iron Workers, Plumbers, Sheet Metal Workers and the Teamsters. The council represents over 40,000 men and women working in the building trades in Southeast Michigan.

They join with the District Council of Carpenters, along with a number of police unions, in proclaiming Kohlstrand as their choice for judge. They believe his knowledge and experience, together with his long history of public service, make him the ideal candidate for the bench.

Thank You

I would like to thank you for your vote of confidence in the recent Huron School Elections. I will continue to work towards improving academics while being fiscally responsible to the taxpayer. I would also like to share with you that I believe that our school district is embarking on an era of accomplishment for our students and community. I thank you for being an active part of this excitement and look forward to your comments and participation at the various events and activities of the schools and community.
